Copilot-Ready Oversharing Control for M365

There's great promise in implementing Copilot, but lots of risk as well. Before you open up your data to Copilot, you need to make sure it's only using relevant data and files, and not exposing sensitive data to the wrong users.

Challenge

Abandoned folders, unused workspaces, and long ago inactive files can pollute Copilot's results. Lack of sensitivity labeling can create situations where Copilot includes files users shouldn't see in its results.

Solution

The M365 Tenant Dashboard lets you quickly see inactive files and workspaces, and which files still need Purview sensitivity labeling. It helps you plan faster, migrate easier, and accelerate Copilot adoption.
